ESPORTS MANAGEMENT

“Be at the center of the passion of millions of Gen-Zs by creating and sponsoring a team. Your team connects you with millions of Africa’s rising youths and places your brand at the center of everyday conversations.”

- Sponsoring an esports team offers a compelling and proactive way to share your brand’s mission with the world. Bearing some similarities to the pull of traditional sports sponsorship, esports sponsorship is differentiated because it is cost-effective and targeted.
- It offers an immediate and effective impact for brands or companies looking to connect with a young audience. It will target the youth much more effectively, it will have more immediate and effective advertising impact.
- It is also a brand-building tool that allows you to bring to life the values that define your company. Instead of simply telling, you can show the dedication, passion, desire, and creativity that your brand represents through the activities of your esports team. When fans support your team, they amplify these values and indirectly support your brand.

ESPORTS MANAGEMENT

“GIVE YOUR BRAND A WINNING FACE”

Managing an esports team also offers a path to revenue with teams having the ability to break even after one year depending on media coverage or ranking.

Other revenue sources include social media followers, merchandising opportunities, and competition cash prizes.

A team allows the brand to have a winning “face”.

Investment Consultancy/Advising

The esport scene is growing very fast and is already a major industry in terms of audience, investments and revenues. Started in the early 2000s, esport is set to become a cornerstone of future entertainment. Many companies, sponsors and wealthy people have been investing more and more in it. Esport has a long way to go to become mature and it will undergo important developments, early investments.

As esports continues to attract significant attention from global brands, investors, and media, the demand for specialized consultancy services has surged. We offer expertise in understanding the unique landscape of esports, including the various revenue streams such as sponsorships, media rights, and merchandising. We help investors navigate the complexities of this market, identify profitable opportunities, and mitigate risks, ensuring that their clients make informed decisions in this fast-paced environment.

In addition to guiding investment strategies, we provide valuable insights into the evolving trends and demographics of the gaming audience. This knowledge is crucial for investors who want to align their portfolios with emerging sectors within esports, such as mobile gaming or virtual reality.

INFRASTRUCTURE DEVELOPMENT

“Turn play to profit by creating infrastructure that powers esports. Build for today’s passion and become a cultural staple in years to come.”

- While esports thrives in a digital or virtual led world, it still requires physical experiences to expand its appeal and value. Consumer behavior supports it with more consumers looking to attend physical activities and build communities outside of the digital world that drives their day-to-day activities.
- Events have emerged as a sustainable way to satisfy this need for physical experiences among the esports community. These events require physical infrastructure to host them and supporting infrastructure to entertain event attendees. From esports bars to shops, arenas, and internet infrastructure, there is an opportunity to meet an unexploited but expanding demand.
- Early investors stand a chance of amazing returns by powering the construction of infrastructure that powers physical experiences.

WHAT WE OFFER

- Project Advisory
- Infrastructure Viability Analysis

Communication and Event Management

Internet, social media and instant messaging brought people closer together in a digital and virtual world, making access to information and sharing easier and faster. As our virtual world developed, we have drifted away from real and physical experiences.

As the digital world is now mature and reaching its peak expansion, consumers have been in search to get back in touch with the world and with each other in a more physical and slower-paced way.

The audience is looking to connect with brands for what they stand for and not only for profit, by having more immersive and authentic experiences over just products. Events are able to make a deeper and more memorable impact and connection with the public.

- Target audience : your staff and employees, your partners and customers for team building, recreation, relaxation, fun, learning and discovery, exposure, product placement, advertising, sponsoring and ticketing revenue
- Types of events : Video game exhibition, esport competition, punctual or repetitive events.

MAKING A CASE- WHY YOU SHOULD INVEST IN ESPORTS

- Esports is one of the world's fastest-growing sectors with the potential for accelerated growth. The Global Esports Market was valued at USD 1.08 Billion in 2021, and it is expected to reach a value of USD 2.8 Billion by 2028.
- This growth is driven by rapid digitization and the reduced cost of electronic devices that previously served as a barrier to entry for new entrants into the esports space.
- In an analysis of emerging markets, Nigeria stands out as a prime destination for esports investment due to internet and digital penetration and an enthusiastic youth population.

WHY NIGERIA?

- Nigeria is the future of esports.
- Nigeria has one of the fastest growing youth populations globally.
- Esports is a low-cost sport and a digitally inclined youth population with access to internet-enabled devices can make the transition.
- The growing population and interest provide an opportunity to invest in infrastructure to support esports and associated activities.
- Esports provides Nigeria's youth population an avenue to promote national pride and stake their claim as Africa's best on the global scene.
